

Siemens Healthineers Challenge

Siemens Healthineers challenge: Large Language Models for medical technology:

In the last couple of months, Large Language Models (LLM) like ChatGPT have raised a lot of interest across many industries and they will also impact the medical technology sector. In this challenge we are searching for innovative LLM solutions, which add value to our products and services, or that enable new businesses. Examples:

- Support the operation of imaging or radiotherapy equipment
- Enable the interpretation of lab diagnostic results
- Improve the operation of hospitals
- Support of the customer service

We are looking forward to hearing about your innovative solutions and explore potential cooperation options!
